Sirica rules report on Nixon delivered to House committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled today that a secret grand jury report on President Nixon's role in Watergate should be delivered to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry.

Sirica said in his 22-page opinion that "the person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee."

"Other persons are involved only indirectly," Sirica said.

He also said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions ... it renders no moral or social judgments. The report is a simple and straightforward compilation of information gathered by the grand jury, and no more."

Sirica, who steps down as chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington on Tuesday, delayed implementation of his order for two days to enable interested parties to file appeals.

The judge wrote that "although it has not been emphasized in this opinion, it should not be forgotten that we deal in a matter of the most critical moment to the nation, an impeachment investigation involving the President of the United States."

"It would be difficult to conceive of a more compelling need than that of this country for an unswerving fair inquiry based on all the pertinent information," he said.

Sirica said the grand jury "strongly recommends" that its report and a satchel filled with evidence should go to the impeachment committee because:

"Having carefully examined the contents of the grand jury report, the court is satisfied that there can be no question regarding their materiality to the House Judiciary Committee's investigation."

Rep. Peter Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee told newsmen he could not comment on the substance of Sirica's order until he had more time to examine it and consult counsel. But he indicated that he welcomed the release of the grand jury papers to the committee.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, the senior Republican on the committee said, he was "very pleased."

"The grand jury report was obviously intended for the committee, and the committee should have it," Hutchinson said.

Both men indicated they do not expect undue delay in obtaining the papers because of the Sirica's provision for a stay while his order may be appealed.

"I think the appeal can be speedily disposed of one way or the other," Hutchinson said, adding that he does not think committee counsel should take any part in the appeal proceedings.

The judge said it would be up to the House Judiciary Committee "to determine the significance" of the evidence and that the court offered no opinion as to relevance.

Sirica also said the Judiciary committee rather than the court should consider a request from White House counsel for permission to review the grand jury evidence.

The grand jury gave the report to Sirica on March 1, the same day it indicted seven former Nixon administration and Nixon campaign aides on charges of conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Referring to the arguments of Watergate defense lawyers that transmission of the report to Congress would result in its contents leaking to the news media, Sirica said:

"The court, however, cannot justify nondisclosure on the basis of speculation that leaks will occur, added to the further speculation that resultant publicity would prejudice the rights of defendants ..."

Sirica dismissed arguments that the grand jury lacked the power to issue such a report.

Mayor confirms his intention to veto ordinance on mayor

Mayor Jerry Jones Monday confirmed he will veto, at tonight's council meeting, the proposed mayor ordinance approved by the City Council at its March 4 meeting.

The council will be in regular session at 7:30 o'clock in the Municipal Building.

"I haven't changed my position," Jones said Monday. "I still believe the proposal, as approved, is wrong."

The proposal, approved by a 6-1 margin, reads "shall the annual salary of the mayor remain at $4,800 or shall the salary be increased to $14,000?"

Fourth Ward Republican George Dugan Jr., who voted to place the issue on the ballot "to get it off dead center," Monday indicated he would not vote to override any possible veto by Jones.

"I feel now that we would be better off with nothing at all, than with something that would be a political football," Dugan said.

Arab oil embargo against U.S. lifted

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The Arabs lifted the oil embargo against the United States Monday, but said their oil ministers would meet in Cairo on June 1 to review the decision, a spokesman announced.

He said Italy and West Germany henceforth would be considered "friendly nations" and would receive the petroleum they need.

The case of the Netherlands, subjected to a total boycott since October, was not mentioned in the communique issued by the ministers of nine Arab oil producing countries after a 90-minute meeting here.

Saudi Arabia and Kuwait — the two biggest Arab oil producers — endorsed the decision as well as smaller oil nations in the Persian Gulf.

But the communique said Libya did not and also opposed increasing oil supplies to Italy and Germany.

Algeria stressed its moderate position by pointing out in the communique that lifting the embargo against the United States was a temporary measure effective until June 1.

Syria, which produces oil but has never sold any to the United States also opposed the decision to lift the embargo.

The other Arab countries stressed their support for Syria in its conflict with Israel.

Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said before the meeting that the embargo, imposed five months ago because of American support of Israel in the October Middle East war, would be lifted, and so did Algeria's official newspaper El Moudjahid.

But Egypt's semi-official newspaper Al Ahran forecast the decision to lift the embargo could be delayed for a week to refer it to an Arab foreign ministers meeting on March 25.

The ministers from nine Arab countries met for three and a half hours Sunday but failed to agree. Syria and Libya were reported blocking a unanimous decision to lift the blockade. However, one unconfirmed report said Syria's objections had been ironed out, and Libya would abstain from the decision by the rest.

Several of the ministers met until late Sunday night in an attempt to draft a consensus document. Others contacted their governments for further instructions, sources said.

Earlier Sunday, 13 of the world's major oil-producing nations, including seven of the Arab states, concluded a weekend meeting here with the announcement they would maintain their posted prices on crude oil until July 1.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said its decision not to raise the artificial price on which their share of the oil revenue is calculated was a good will gesture toward the leading oil consumers — Western Europe, Japan and the United States. But a spokesman warned that unless the industrial nations controlled their "galloping inflation" and the prices they charge the oil nations for their manufactured products, they would raise the oil price again.

The OPEC countries produce 80 per cent of world oil exports.

The Arab oil meeting was a followup to one in Tripoli, Libya, last Wednesday. It produced reports that the ministers had decided to end the boycott they agreed on last October in an attempt to pressure the United States to modify its pro-Israeli policy. A formal decision and announcement was predicted for the Vienna meeting.

Campaign financing reform facing Missouri's legislators

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Appropriations and further work on reforming the state's campaign financing law faced legislators as they returned to the Capitol today.

A Senate-House conference committee met Sunday night to work out disagreements in a supplemental appropriations bill to fund operations and make emergency repairs in the current fiscal year.

The major snag to compromise was language in the House bill detailing expenses down to as little as $42.

The Senate conference committee members, while favoring detailed budget requests, feel the House bill is too rigid. The governor's office has opposed the detailed language in nearly all the House appropriations measures this year.

The Senate bill for additional spending this year totaled $29 million and excluded funds for the University of Missouri to begin summer school at the Independence Residence Center.

The House bill, which totaled $27 million, included $100,000 to begin the takeover of the center by the University of Missouri-Kansas City.

The center now is operated by Central Missouri State University at Warrensburg for the Jackson County College Committee, which owns the land and building, located near the Truman Library in Independence.

The governor, meanwhile, was expected to sign an appropriations bill passed in the 61-day special session that ended Feb. 1. Today was the deadline for any veto.

Printing expenses totaling $66,000, including $32,000 for a new printing press, raised some eyebrows in the state accounting office. The printing machine was used for getting mimeograph copies of bills to the legislators' desks quickly.

Von Hoffman Press does most of the legislative printing, but it takes at least a day to get the bills printed. Some of the conference committee bills have to be printed in a matter of hours in the closing day of a session.

The special session bill includes $366,000 for legislative expenses in the 61 days, $8.3 million to fund a $5 per person increase in aid to dependent children and $381,998 for the Welfare Division's food to $200,000 for the Housing Development Commission.

The House, facing a long calendar of bills up for first-round approval, has established a special order of business to expedite consideration of more important bills.

Among them is the substitute bill for campaign finance reform. Debate started on the measure last week and two substitute bills for the original committee substitute were quickly introduced.

Appropriations bill deadlock is reached

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — After meeting less than half an hour, a joint Senate-House conference committee, attempting to work out differences in a supplemental appropriations bill, reached a deadlock Sunday night over money bill language.

The same differences will likely exist in all state money bills, unless a firm compromise is reached.

Any compromise reached on this first money bill may open the way for passage of other appropriations before the April 22 deadline for such bills.

The language snag resulted from the detailed line item budgeting in the House bill. The House bill details some agency expenses down to as low as $42.

The Senate bill is not so detailed in language, and according to Sen. Norman Merrell, D-Monticello, allows the "basic flexibility" the House wanted in reorganization.

Merrell moved that the Senate's less detailed language stand, and received support from the five Senate conferees. However, the five House conferees stood firmly behind Chairman James Russell, D-Florissant, and opposed the Merrell motion, which then died on the 5-5 tie vote.

Sen. Richard Webster, R-Carthage, said "if they're not willing to change on that language, there's no sense in going on at all", and the conference soon broke up. Then conferees waited for more than an hour for a possible agreement until Russell suggested everybody get a night's sleep.

Senators agreed and everybody went home.

The supplemental money bill funds state agencies emergency needs until July. The House sum is about $27 million, and the Senate sum is slightly more than $29 million.

The House bill would transfer the Independence Residence Center of Central Missouri State University to the University of Missouri. The Senate would keep the center under CMSU control.

But the major difference is the House's line item budgeting. The Senate has received support from Gov. Christopher S. Bond, who opposes the House formula.

Merrell said Sunday Missourians wanted better services and more efficiency when they voted for reorganization, and said, "we have the obligation to see it is fulfilled."

Webster agreed, but noted that the House was responsible for the Senate's position, "the House literally jammed down our throat (in reorganization conferences) the position we're taking. Now we have to comply with the law."

Authorities continue bank robber search

WARSAW — A spokesman for the Benton County sheriff's department said Monday that officers have "two suspects in mind" in the search for the second person involved in Thursday's robbery of the Bank of Iowa.

"We still have some leads we're working on," said Al Doty, deputy sheriff, "but there haven't been any more arrests." Doty said information about the two suspects might jeopardize the investigation.

A former Sedalia man, Martin William Monteer, 28, Independence, was charged Friday in a federal warrant with the $2,816 armed robbery of the bank.

Monteer was identified by two witnesses to the holdup as one of the two men who robbed the bank at gunpoint about 10:15 a.m. Thursday. He remains in the Jackson County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond. Doty said.

Doty said that if Monteer posts bond on the federal charge, he would be brought back to Benton County on an armed robbery charge.

The deputy sheriff said none of the money has yet been recovered. "Not one bill as far as we've been able to determine," Doty added.

Saline County Sheriff Henry Hoff told The Democrat-Capital that Monteer was convicted by a jury in the fall of 1969 on an armed robbery charge in Cole County Circuit Court in Jefferson City. He was sentenced to five years to the State Department of Corrections. Hoff said. The date of his release was unknown.

The charged stemmed from an armed robbery in June, 1969, of Cunningham's Grocery in Marshall Junction. He was arrested by Pettis County sheriff's officers on that charge and later transferred to Saline County. The case was moved from Saline County to Cole County on a change of venue.

Strike closes some Kansas City schools

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Public school teachers seeking higher pay and administrative changes went on strike today, shutting down 13 of the district's 98 schools.

Early reports showed that seven of the city's 12 high schools were closed, as were three of nine junior highs and three of 76 elementary schools.

School officials filed suit for an injunction to halt the strike, and Judge Robert A. Meyers of Jackson County Circuit Court issued a temporary restraining order against the strikers. He set a hearing for a temporary injunction for next Monday.

Strike leaders were not immediately available for comment, but union leaders had said earlier the teachers would continue their strike despite any court action.

Supt. Robert L. Medcalf, who vowed earlier to keep the city's schools open, was given authority by the school board last week to seek court intervention. A school board lawyer said today that legal action was not sought until it became necessary, when some of the schools were closed.

The schools apparently were closed because of high absenteeism by teachers, although some schools reported abnormally high absences by students as well. At one junior high, 11 of 69 teachers reported for work, and one high school had 18 of 70 teachers working this morning.

Other schools were being maintained by regular teachers, substitutes and administrative personnel.

Police units patrolling the schools reported several cases of vandalism. Police said students at Northeast High tossed desks, books and papers from the upper floors of the building. Officers said about a dozen windows were reported broken at Northeast Junior High.

Police said officers escorted a bread truck driver past a picket line at one school after pickets refused to let him make a delivery.

About half of the 3,200 members of the Kansas City Federation of Teachers participated in a strike vote Sunday, after contract talks stalled on 44 items, and about 30 of them reportedly voted against the strike. No new negotiations were scheduled.

Norman Hudson, the federation president, said 80 to 85 per cent of the membership supports the strike.

Lees driving after license was revoked

The Democrat-Capital learned Monday that James Duvall Lees was driving under a revoked license at the time the car he was driving collided with another car in front of Ramada Inn Friday night, seriously injuring eight persons.

According to Mrs. Barbara French, magistrate clerk of Saline County, Lees, 38, 906 South Kentucky, was arrested by a highway patrolman on Highway 65 just south of Marshall Junction on Jan. 26 and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Mrs. French said Lees posted $115 bond and pleaded guilty to the charge in Magistrate Court on Feb. 13 and was fined $100.

A driving while intoxicated (DWI) conviction on a state highway costs the driver 12 points under Missouri's point system and automatically revokes the driver's license for a year.

A check with the State License Bureau in Jefferson City verified that Lees' license had been revoked on Feb. 22, more than two weeks prior to the Friday night collision.

The spokesman for the license bureau said that Lees had been under revocation twice before, once in August of 1969 after Lees had been convicted in Sedalia on two DWI charges and three charges of driving with no operator's license, and again in February of 1970 for violating the earlier revocation by driving while his license was revoked. The spokesman said a third DWI charge and another driving with no license charge in Sedalia contributed to the second revocation.

The spokesman said Lees' license was reinstated in February, 1973.

A check with Sedalia police revealed that since August, 1956, Lees has been arrested four times for driving while intoxicated, 15 times for being drunk in public and once for being intoxicated in a motor vehicle. He was arrested more than a dozen other times for assault, disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

According to police records, Lees was also sentenced to two years in the Missouri State Penitentiary in Jefferson City in 1962 on a charge of issuing a check with no account in the bank.

Lees was reportedly leaving Sedalia on West Broadway about 7:30 p.m. Friday when he pulled out in the wrong lane to pass several cars and collided head-on with a 1968 Chevrolet carrying five children and their mother.

The woman, Mrs. Eunice Opfer, 32, 168 Autumn, and two of her children, Steve, 6, and Tammy, 9, were reported in critical condition Monday morning in the surgical intensive care unit at the University of Missouri Medical Center, Columbia.

Mrs. Opfer's other three children, Sandy,

Tipton girls still in serious condition

Two Tipton girls injured in a collision with a wrecker on Highway 50 near the Pettis-Morgan County line Friday morning were still listed in serious condition at Bothwell Hospital Monday morning.

According to the Highway Patrol, Carmen B. Larimore, 17, and Karen Koechner, 16, were eastbound on Highway 50 when they came upon a car waiting to turn left off the highway.

The car driven by Miss Larimore skidded into the eastbound lane and collided almost head-on with the wrecker, which was towing a vehicle at the time.

Both girls suffered numerous fractures and lacerations. The driver of the wrecker, Dan Elliott, 24, California, was treated for multiple bruises and some strained back ligaments at St. Mary's Hospital, Jefferson City.

County assessor's office named in suit

A civil suit challenging the procedures of the Pettis County assessor's office was filed Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court.

The petition, filed by the Xerox Corporation, seeks the recovery of $3,096.17 in personal property taxes which were paid the county in 1973.

According to the petition, the company's leased equipment in the county was assessed last year for $90,170, based on a formula prepared by the State Tax Commission. The assessment is calculated by multiplying the average gross revenue of the equipment by 40 and dividing the result by three.

Xerox says it paid $4,459.17 in taxes on Dec. 19 last year, based on the assessment. The company contends that the assessment formula "fails to reflect the true value" of the company's property and the assessment formula is in violation of "constitutional provisions."

The company says it is "prepared to show" that its proper assessment is $27,562, instead of $90,172.

Pettis County Collector Raymond Wilder was named defendant in the suit because of the company's intent to recover taxes which were paid.

Xerox tried to get the assessment lowered with the Pettis County Board of Equalization last year, the petition said, but the board upheld the assessment.

Xerox then filed an appeal with the State Tax Commission, the suit continued, and the case has been continued pending the outcome of a suit by Xerox vs. the State Tax Commission in Cole County Circuit Court in Jefferson City.

In a suit filed Friday, the Meyer Electric Co., Jefferson City, is asking for $4,752.01 from the Dean Construction Co. and R. I. Motel Inc., both of Sedalia.

The suit contends that on July, 1972, the plaintiff entered into a contract with the Dean Construction Co. for construction of the Ramada Inn here.

Meyer Electric says it performed the work but has never been paid for the job, although demands for payment have been made.

Both Dean Construction Co. and R. I. Motel Inc. are named as defendants since each jointly requested the work, the suit says.

Kelley has no objection to FBI measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley testified today he would not object to legislation aimed at insulating him and his successors from political pressures.

His testimony before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee concerned a bill by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. The hearing is the first by the Senate panel set up to monitor FBI operations.

The bill would set a 10-year term for the FBI director.

Kelley said such legislation "might contribute toward countering the impression that an appointment of any director was for political purposes."

"I also feel that the position of director should not necessarily change hands with each administration which will give the incumbent a greater sense of independence."

In saying he is satisfied personally with an appointment for no set term, Kelley said he is confident that during his tenure "there will be no successful pressure exerted on me to use the FBI for partisan political purposes."

The bill also would allow reappointment for one additional 10-year term and both appointments be subject to Senate confirmation.

However, the director, like any other presidential appointee, could be dismissed for cause.

Present law sets no limit on how long an FBI director may serve. J. Edgar Hoover held the office from 1924 until his death in May 1972.

Byrd's bill and the establishment of the oversight subcommittee grew out of President Nixon's ill-starred nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to succeed Hoover.

Byrd and some other Judiciary Committee members contended Gray had yielded to White House pressures in the FBI investigation of the Watergate case, and eventually Gray asked Nixon to withdraw his nomination.

Then Kelley, police chief in Kansas City, Mo., for 12 years and a former FBI agent, was nominated as Hoover's successor. He was confirmed by the Senate in June of last year.

Byrd said the confirmation hearings indicated "Congress must take steps to insulate the director of the FBI from possible political pressures — especially from the White House and, conceivably, even from Congress."

He observed that a 10-year term for the director would overlap by at least two years the tenure of any president.

Byrd said this would eliminate many of the pressures that could be brought to bear if a director were to be appointed or reappointed each time a president took office.

Three are injured in early-morning accident Sunday

Three persons were injured at 1:46 a.m. Sunday when the 1965 Chevrolet in which they were passengers went out of control and struck three vehicles parked on South Ohio near 13th.

Admitted to Bothwell Hospital with a broken ankle was Dorothy Rogers, 36, 1907 South Ohio. Treated and released were two other occupants in the Chevrolet, Gene Rogers, 32, 1907 South Ohio, and Leroy Toliver, 524 East Third.

Police say the accident occurred when the Chevrolet, heading south on Ohio, apparently went out of control and struck a parked 1968 Oldsmobile, owned by Southside Auto Sales. It then proceeded south on the wrong side of the street, striking the left rear of a 1972 Ford owned by Donald Slemple, Richland, Mo. The car then glanced off a tree and struck a 1967 Chevrolet, owned by Joyce Parsons, 1315 South Ohio, ran through two yards and came to rest on the front porch of a home located at 1317 South Ohio.

Damage to the Oldsmobile, the parked Chevrolet, and the run-away vehicle was reported by police as being extensive.

According to police reports, the driver of the vehicle has not yet been determined. No arrests have been made in connection with the incident, it was reported.

Total of weekend thefts in county said near $5,500

Two weekend thefts netted thieves about $5,500 in merchandise, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said Monday.

Fairfax said a 22-foot camping trailer valued at about $4,000 was stolen Sunday night from Bob's Campers, South Highway 65.

The ivory and brown trailer was attached to a vehicle and driven south, Fairfax said. The vehicle was parked on a sales lot on the north side of the building.

Ten chain saws, a typewriter and a calculator, collectively valued at about $1,500, were taken from Smithton Industries over the weekend, Fairfax said. Entry to the building was gained by prying open a door, Fairfax said.

Fairfax said the chain saws are the "Jonesred" brand.

No persons have been arrested for either burglary.

U.S. agrees to aid Suez mine sweeping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting on an Egyptian request, the United States has agreed to help sweep mines from the Suez Canal in order to make the waterway available to international shipping, the State Department announced today.

In a brief announcement, the department said Americans would provide technical advice and training for Egyptians responsible for clearing mines in the canal and along its banks.

The canal has been blocked since the 1967 six-day war between the Arab states and Israel.

In line with a recent warming of relations between Washington and Cairo, a U.S. Navy team was sent to Egypt last month to conduct a survey on sweeping the mines from the canal's mouth.

How to handle a bad situation

By DAVID PARSONS

Life had suddenly gone sour on me. I was almost 18 years old and had nothing to look forward to. My senior year at Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn Heights, Mich., which had just started, should have been a time of excitement. Instead, I was filled with the dread certainty that I would not graduate with my class. I lacked the necessary credits and had only myself to blame.

Naturally that realization didn't remove the sting of disappointment. It only made my part-time job at the gas station seem less bearable.

If I had graduation to look forward to — if only I knew I could enroll in a college next fall... Now I had to go to night school (which I hated the thought of) and continue to work at the station (which I hated the thought of even more).

My job helped me financially, but it sure wasn't helping me to like people. Let's face it, you don't see people at their best when you're gas pump jockey. People are always in a hurry, blowing their horns and yelling out orders.

You get these guys who drive up in a Lincoln Continental or a Cadillac and order two dollars' worth of gas on a charge.

Or the young drunks who flock in around 2 a.m. with their old junk cars — so misshapen they defy description. All they want is 50 cents' worth of gas and they have to take up a hurried collection for that!

Or the housewife in for a grease job, completely oblivious to the fact that her kids are running rampant through the station—so you hurry to get her car serviced before they tear up the place.

Yes, I hated the thought of night school; but, heck, I had to graduate or I might end up pumping gas for the rest of my life and putting up with all these crazy people. I shuddered at the thought, jerking the nozzle carelessly out of the car's gas well.

"Hey, buddy, watch the paint job, will ya." The guy jotted his head through the open window as he yelled at me, and I had the greatest urge to grab him and yank him the rest of the way.

All my evenings were filled with similar hateful thoughts. At the end of each evening I would go home spent and depressed. I had decided that I really didn't like people and, even worse, I didn't like myself!

What had happened to me? Why had I changed? I tried to think things through as I lay sleeplessly in bed. I hadn't prayed for a long time. God, like my schoolwork, had been sloughed off — forgotten — for better things.

"Oh, God," I prayed in earnest, "I need Your help. I want to change. Help me to like myself — and people — again."

God has funny ways of helping people. Sometimes it's all done so subtly we don't recognize that it's His providence.

"Dave — Dave Parson!" The fellow in the car looked familiar, but I couldn't place him. "Bob Stone," he said with a warm smile.

"Gosh, Bob, I didn't recognize you. How're things going?" I didn't have to ask that. I knew how things must be going for Bob.

We had gone to high school together but Bob had become all fouled up on drugs. He was expelled from school and had barely survived death from an overdose.

Yet as we talked now, somehow I knew that this down-and-out character understood my problem. I found myself telling him the whole bit — all my complaints, my frustrations, my fears.

Was I ever in for a shock! "I guess you would still call me a freak," he said with a broad grin. "But now I'm a Jesus freak. I'm what I call an ambassador of God."

He went on to explain that when he had nearly died, he had prayed to God that if He would spare him, he'd spend the rest of his days making up for the tragic mess he had made of his life. So now he was helping other kids kick drugs.

I mentally compared myself to Bob Stone. Bob had lived through some hard knocks, but instead of going around with a chip on his shoulder and feeling sorry for himself as I had in the past, he had reached out to others and given of himself. He had turned his defeats into victories with the help of God. He had found the one thing that makes life worthwhile — a purpose in being through Jesus Christ.

It was that very night that I made my commitment to Jesus Christ. From now on, I vowed, I was going to live like a Christian — not just practice verbal religion — and try to be an example to others of what Christ can do with us.

What a wonderful opportunity I had on my job to be an ambassador of God. Think of all the people I came in contact with!

Needless to say, I didn't change right away. But those words of Bob's, "ambassador of God," stuck with me. Without realizing it, I was becoming a different person. My faith in myself and my attitude toward people improved day by day. I became enthusiastic about my job and began to whistle and laugh more.

I talked to the customers. They loved it! But, more important, I began to see people as just that — people. People with the same doubts, fears and frustrations as I had; people with the same need for love and understanding.

The fellows with their flashy cars, too busy to be nice, were to be pitied. The housewife hadn't meant to be irresponsible. She was probably a loving wife and mother who appreciated the few moments of adult conversation. The young drunks were kids like myself — searching for a meaning in life.

Once in a while I bump into a person now who snaps at me. "What are you so cheerful about?" And I say to them, "I've got a lot going for me, thanks to God. And to me life is just wonderful."

Some go away frowning — but then there are all those who leave the pumps smiling. It's so good to help people smile! c. 1974, Guideposts Associates Inc.

Low white cell count

Dear Dr. Lamb — For a number of years I have shown an extremely low white cell count in my yearly check-up — such as 3200 compared to 7000, which I understand is normal. Usually I am given the six B-12 and calcium shots for a "build-up," but, even so, the count does not go up.

I am very healthy (age 69) and extremely resistant to disease such as the common cold, flu, infection, etc. I understand the low count indicates non-resistance to such illnesses, but in my case this is not so.

My doctor said last year that he frankly does not know what else to do and, if I feel all right, to not worry about the low count.

Is this your opinion? Is it an indication of anything else? What do you think causes such a low count? I take about four aspirin a day for occasional aches and pains or muscular stress, and am on medicine for high blood pressure (which is well under control.)

Dear Reader — That is a low count. Usually we consider anything below 5000 as too low. There are individual exceptions, and it is possible that your count is normal for you.

Such a finding certainly warrants careful investigation. Your doctor knows about your red blood cells and other findings which may help him know just how important the finding is in your case.

Sometimes the spleen is overactive and literally digests too many white blood cells. Usually in this case the spleen can be felt on physical examination. Often it destroys an excess amount of red blood cells too, but not always.

In other instances the blood forming organs just quit producing enough cells. You can tell more about this by special tests, such as examination of the bone marrow and looking at lymph glands with a microscope.

Some medicines do affect the number of blood cells formed, and it is possible that one of the medicines you are taking for blood pressure could be affecting this.

If you are worried about this, ask the doctor to get a consultation with a specialist in hematology and let him

Delicatessen owner robbed and killed

UNIVERSITY CITY, Mo. (AP) — Joseph Heller, 40, the owner of a delicatessen, was shot and killed Sunday night after he opened a cash register to turn over an undetermined amount of money to an armed bandit, police said.

Heller, married with three children, was shot twice. He lived in Creve Coeur.

Heller was closing up the Pickle Barrel Delicatessen when he was accosted by an armed man and forced to open a cash register, witnesses said. Three persons in the establishment at the time were locked in a bathroom.

They said they heard Heller cry, "Oh no!" and then three shots were heard. Heller was found later on the floor.

Osteopath's license restored with 'regret'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Missouri Board of Registration for Healing Arts, advised that state law left it no recourse, has restored the license of Richard P. Mucie, a Kansas City osteopathic physician who served 14 months of a 10-year sentence for manslaughter by abortion.

"I advised the board with great regret that under the current law we have to license this man," Albert J. Stephen Jr., board attorney, said Saturday, when the action was taken.

He added: "The board is going to reissue the license without prejudice to its rights to reinvestigate the entire case and determine whether or not Dr. Mucie was guilty of any improper or dishonorable conduct in the death of Nancy Ward."

Mucie, 60, was convicted in June, 1968, in connection with the death of the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ward of Las Vegas, Nev. The University of Oklahoma coed and her fiancé, Fred Landreth of Kansas City, flew to Kansas City from Norman, Okla., in February, 1968, after arrangements were made for Dr. Mucie to perform an abortion on the young woman.

Landreth testified that Miss Ward died at a clinic where Dr. Mucie worked.

A pathologist testified that Miss Ward apparently died "as the result of shock and hemorrhage due to perforation of the uterus while she was pregnant." The pathologist, Dr. Raymond J. Caffrey, also testified that the autopsy he performed revealed "congestion and swelling of both lungs consistent with a prolonged agonal (dying) period of, if not hours, minutes."

She died four hours after the operation was performed.

An all-male Jackson County Circuit Court jury in Kansas City found Dr. Mucie guilty on June 27, 1968, by a unanimous vote on the first ballot and he was sentenced to 10 years in the Missouri Penitentiary.

In January, 1970, the Missouri Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

He was released from the Missouri Penitentiary by the Missouri Board of Probation and Parole in March, 1971, but the Missouri Board of Registration for Healing Arts revoked his license two months later.

Last September Dr. Mucie filed a petition in U.S. District Court seeking $3.1 million in damages and asking that his license be returned. A federal judge in Kansas City denied the petition without prejudice last

Robbery and assault warrants are issued

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP) — Bobby Lee Griffin was identified Sunday as the man Jefferson County sheriff's deputies are seeking in connection with the shooting of one deputy and the abduction of a man and his wife.

Griffin, 37, who escaped from a correctional facility March 8, was charged with assault with intent to kill with malice and robbery with a dangerous and deadly weapon in at-large warrants issued by Robert Curran, county prosecuting attorney.

Police said identical charges were filed against a female companion, Vicki Jo Lane, 22, a St. Louis hospital surgical technician.

The charges stemmed from Friday's shooting of Deputy Walter Vandaveer near Cedar Hill, Mo., after Griffin was placed in the lawman's car and Miss Lane was ordered to follow to the sheriff's office here in connection with a drug raid earlier in the day, police said.

Vandaveer, 60, was listed in satisfactory condition at a hospital in Kirkwood with a bullet wound of the hip.

October, referring Mucie to the Missouri court system and the state board for getting his license back.

Stephan, the board's attorney, noted that Dr. Mucie was convicted under a Missouri statute later negated when the U.S. Supreme Court overturned the state's entire law prohibiting abortions.

The section affecting Mucie made abortion manslaughter when death occurs.

Police said Griffin and Miss Lane later abducted Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Schormann of Dittmer, who were released unharmed late Friday in St. Louis County.

Richard L. Stephenson, county detective, described Griffin as "armed and dangerous."

Records show he was found guilty of the murder of a St. Louis tavern patron in 1960 and was sentenced to 15 years in prison. He pleaded guilty in 1968 to a charge of second-degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of an inmate at the Missouri Penitentiary in Jefferson City.

Stephenson said Griffin had 50 more years imprisonment to serve when he escaped from the Fordland Honor Camp in Dent County 10 days ago.

Big debate forming on need for tax cut

WASHINGTON — Some economists say this nation is already in a recession, while President Nixon insists that we are suffering only "a downturn in the economy."

Rowan

Labels aside, there is widespread agreement on one point: several billion dollars must be pumped into the economy — soon — if we are to avoid a crippling recession at the same time we suffer runaway inflation.

Democrats — like Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts — argue that the quickest, surest way to prevent a recession is to reduce 1974 taxes.

"If we can get more purchasing power into the hands of consumers to stimulate the economy, we can blunt the recession before it takes hold," Kennedy argues. "And at the same time, we can help offset the impact of high food and fuel costs in every family's budget."

The Nixon administration rejects Kennedy's formula, offering a 1975 budget which straddles the fence, sort of waiting to see whether it must give priority to fighting inflation or fighting a recession. If it develops that a recession seems imminent, the Nixon strategy presumably would be to fight it through increased governmental spending, which could for the most part mean more and faster military spending.

Here you have the classic American conflict. This is an issue that clearly separates those who now hold the reins of power from the Democrats who would like to run the show.

But be aware that the argument does not break completely on party lines. Sen.

William Proxmire (D-Wis.) is against a tax reduction unless the budget is trimmed back. Otherwise, he says, more money in the hands of consumers will only add to the inflationary spiral.

Proxmire says the "extra money" in paychecks after a tax cut "would be an illusion ... because the extra $1 or $2 ... would be eaten up by inflation."

The political reality, however, is that most paychecks already have been riddled by inflation. Millions of American workers would welcome a tax cut just to replace what inflation already has stolen.

Thus, in this election year, the tax cut advocates will have the easiest time ever getting a measure through Congress. That is, if they can agree on the wisest way to cut taxes and put more money in the hands of consumers. In January the Senate voted, 53 to 27, to approve a Kennedy proposal to increase the personal income tax exemption and thus reduce taxes by $3.5 billion. That legislation went no further.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale (D-Minn.) wants a $200 personal income tax credit. He says this would concentrate 90 per cent of the tax relief on those making less than $15,000 a year.

Mondale says his proposal "not only helps those most in need, but also provides the greatest amount of stimulus to our lagging economy."

Rep. James A. Burke (Mass.), third-ranking Democrat on the powerful, tax-writing House Ways and Means committee, thinks the current crisis offers a perfect opportunity to revamp financing of our Social Security system. He wants to reduce the payroll tax from the present 5.85 per cent to 3.9 per cent, but apply the tax to wages up to $25,000 a year instead of the present $13,200. This way those most able to pay would share more of the Social Security burden.

Rep. Al Ullman (D-Ore.), acting chairman of ways and means in the absence of the ailing Wilbur Mills, seems to prefer the Mondale proposal as most equitable and workable.

If you are an average American Joe, this talk of taxes bores you. You don't understand the difference between tax credits and exemptions anyhow. Well, you had better do your damndest to figure out what is going on, because tax policy over the next couple of years may determine whether you work or go on welfare, whether you pay the mortgage or risk being foreclosed.

For once, this writer confesses that he does not know the solution. He does know that the "economic game plans" we've had for five years have been bummers, spreading chaos and confusion everywhere.

Economics: Nixon has no policy

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Nixon repeatedly talks of toughness. But it is precisely his fear of confrontation and his unwillingness to make decisions that are in considerable measure responsible for the economic uncertainty this nation faces today.

Cromley

This uncertainty shows in industry's unwillingness to invest at the level necessary to spark the economy and in a widespread consumer reluctance to buy that seriously threatens a recession. It is seen too in spectacular price rises not connected with the energy problem.

Mr. Nixon does well, as in foreign affairs, when he has a strong and determined man at the helm. Dr. Henry Kissinger takes authority and runs with it, carrying the President with him.

But Mr. Nixon has had no such determined man in charge of domestic programs — neither Daniel Moynihan, nor John Ehrlichman nor Melvin Laird. And on purely economic matters, he has had a group of men with concepts so diverse that decisions have been unfortunate compromises.

In the end, therefore, the President's efforts to curb inflation, reduce unemployment and assure economic stability have been quick fixes too often dictated by public pressure. Nixon's men, while talking of tough, unpopular solutions, have reacted to immediate public pressure, adopting inflation-damping measures which they knew most certainly would fail, but which at the time seemed likely to convince business, labor and consumers that strong steps were being taken in their behalf.

In the interest of fairness, it must be pointed out that it became clear to Mr. Nixon and his advisers some time back that familiar economic theories do not hold water in today's world, if they ever did. Most are so subjective and based on such shaky philosophical bases, that each economic expert tends to pick the theory which appeals to him emotionally. There is, as of now, no adequate understanding, in or out of the administration, of price, wage distribution and other economic controls. The men responsible for controls, have operated in ignorance.

As one admittedly biased economist has put it, much of the time controls "have been employed as a blunt instrument, not tailored to particular situations and problems, with insufficient knowledge of their economic effects, and with little or no attention to the extent of compliance."

There is no discernible economic policy. The administration seems to follow one theory one month and another the next. On analysis, it is rather that several conflicting policies have been followed at the same time in a desperate effort to cope with a series of crises. Mr. Nixon has hoppedskipped from the very conservative Arthur Burns to the very liberal John Kenneth Galbraith and back to the conservative Milton Friedman all in the same year or two.

Industrial managers, farmers, investors and individual consumers can plan, invest their money in products and expand production intelligently in this day when government actions have such great influence on our lives, only if they are assured of some governmental continuity of purpose and reasonably stable economic programs over a period of years. But if they are uncertain what the government will do next, they retrench blindly. Retrenchment based on fear usually leads to recessions or depressions.

Need more data on local drug problem

Should Sedalia have an official body to deal with the local drug abuse problem in an attempt to halt or reverse the incidence of drug use, primarily among young people?

This is one of the major questions to come out of the Sedalia drug abuse team's experiences while attending the recent Governor's Conference on Drug Abuse Alternatives in Jefferson City. Sedalia was one of about 15 Missouri cities represented at the conference.

In the report of its views, put together after the conference, the local team stressed the need to first ask the question: how serious is the drug abuse picture in Sedalia?

If the national situation is any indication, there are some definite signs of improvement. Speakers at the Jefferson City conference, especially those in the federal anti-drug effort, reported that the battle against heroin, for instance, has had some marked successes in recent years. In the major urban areas of the nation heroin supplies have been drastically cut.

The picture is cloudier when it comes to other less "hard" drugs, partly because the federal government has been somewhat preoccupied with the anti-heroin effort. The incidence and types of abusers involving such drugs as the barbiturates, pep pills, hallucinogens, marijuana etc., are considerably more difficult to analyze.

Such drugs are in use in Sedalia, but to what extent is difficult to say. There is some evidence to indicate that the drug situation here may be no worse than it was a few years ago, and might even be somewhat improved.

If a concerted, organized anti-drug effort is needed in Sedalia, then by all means we should have it. But some caution at the outset would be advisable. It is much easier to plunge into forming committees and councils in a display of activity, than it is to take the time to analyze what, if anything, Sedalia needs to meet its specific problems, and that would have a reasonable chance of success.

"WHO WE LIBERATING TODAY, GENERAL?"

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Nixon served notice on Republican leaders at a recent White House strategy session that he is determined to take natural gas out from under federal regulation even though it will drive up the cost of heating homes and fueling plants.

"Do you want natural gas at a higher price," he demanded, "or no more natural gas?"

He also believes the chance of avoiding gasoline rationing, according to confidential minutes of the meeting, is now "better than even." But to make sure of this, he would like to call in the oil barons for some straight talk.

This was suggested by Rep. Wilmer Mizell, R-N.C. "Bring the oil companies in and bump their heads together," he urged.

"We're already having woodshed sessions with them," piped up federal energy czar William Simon.

But the President agreed he should huddle personally with them "at least once."

Any presidential round with oilmen, cautioned Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott, should be public "to avoid criticism."

"I'd want the attorney general there," aid the President, "to make it clear there's no antitrust violation."

Then he stressed again that "deregulation of natural gas is really the number one priority."

"Elk Hills, too," chirped Simon. This was a reference to his efforts to open up the naval petroleum reserve at Elk Hills, Calif., a move that has stirred strong opposition in Congress and the Pentagon.

"Fine. Bill. Take your purple heart and go," cracked the President wryly.

He also pleaded that "we must stop being scared of developing nuclear power industrially.

He pooh-poohed the threat to the environment. "Streaking is the only answer if you are to have a completely pure environment," he snorted.

PRESS SUPPRESSION: As the United States emissary to the swearing in of Brazilian President Ernesto Geisel, Pat Nixon could have picked up for her husband some expert advice on how to silence an obstreperous press. Geisel is a master at it.

On the same day the First Lady left for the presidential pomp and circumstance of Brasilia, a courier delivered to us new evidence of how Brazil stifles its press. In the messenger's battered portfolio were page proofs and original stories that had been fully or partly deleted from Brazilian newspapers by the censors who now serve at the pleasure of President Geisel.

The suppressed stories show that even Brazil's distinguished cardinal, Paulo Evariste Arns, has been censored to keep his messages from reaching his parishioners.

Not only liberal but conservative papers, like Sao Paulo's respected "O Estado de Sao Paulo," have been smothered. And the zesty newsmagazine Veja, at deadline time, is invaded by government censors who rule on every story prior to printing.

When Cardinal Arns' archdiocesan radio station was shut off the air after 17 years last October, his church newspaper was allowed to continue, but under erratic censorship. Still, Arns, tried to publish a mild protest over the arrest of 30 people, many of them Catholic social workers.

Even as Geisel prepared for his inauguration, the censors banned Arns' message from his own paper. What was this supposedly treasonous message? The excised material said only this:

"We still do not know the real motives of the arrests, even though we know that many interrogations dealt with the program and organization of the Church. Some of the (arrested) suffered very much. The Church cannot in any circumstances abandon its sons and daughters."

Ironically, one of those arrested was a reporter who had just interviewed the cardinal for Sao Paulo's "Ultima Hora."

After the article was killed, the cardinal circulated it anyway by hand to the 300 Catholic churches of his archdiocese where equally courageous priests read it from their pulpits.

Meanwhile, "O Estado de Sao Paulo" tried to encourage the new President to stand up to the police, which sometimes seems to be a government unto itself in Brazil.

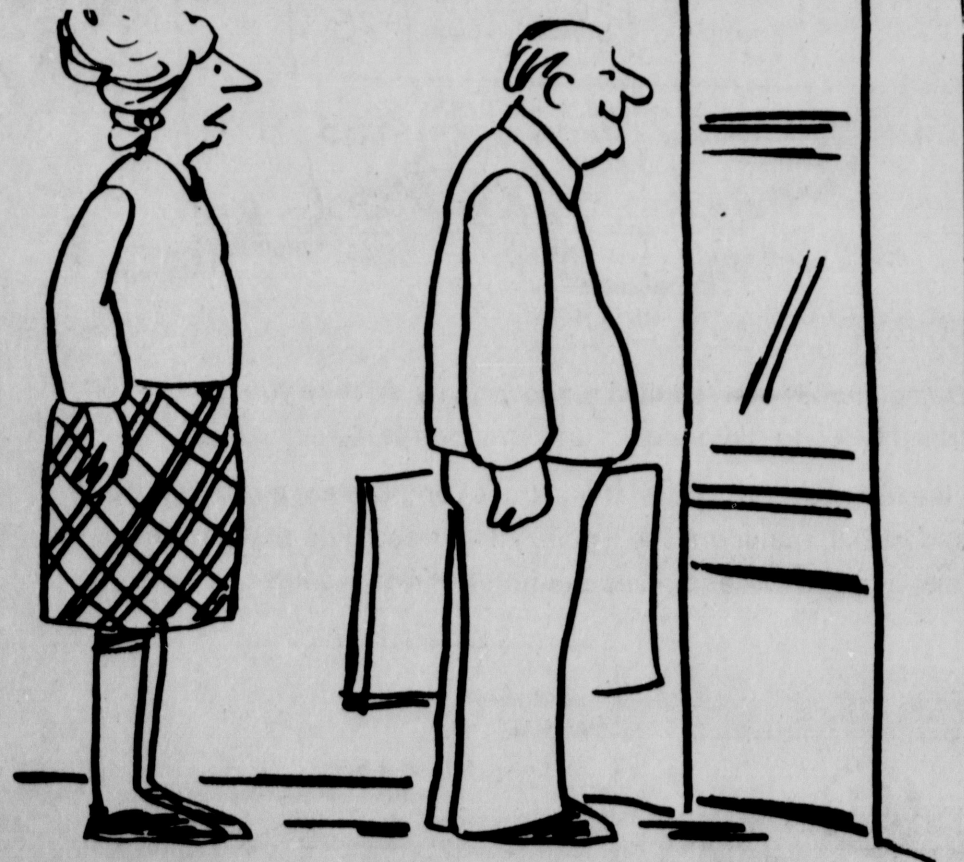

The conservative paper cited the "military virtue and great traditions" of Geisel's soldierly calling and begged him to show "respect for human rights." There was a cautious reference to "the persistence of shocking" actions — a euphemism for torture.

After all, the paper went on, "the political police of Sao Paulo do not have magic power to carry water in a sieve." But the police proved they had the magic power to stop "O Estado." They killed the article.

Among the most poignant examples of censorship was one article that decried censorship itself. This was written by the general secretary of the Brazilian Bishops, Ivo Lorscheider. We are glad to publish his words, which have been banished from Brazil.

"Censorship of the press," said the suppressed story, "is the most indecent thing about the present government. It is a weapon that does the greatest of disservices ... for it leaves many things that the people ought to hear denounced both unknown and undenounced."

Transportation difficulties said backing up cotton exports

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

culture published by the agency.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department expert said today U.S. cotton exports are being backed up as a result of transportation difficulties and that as much as 1.3 million bales may not be shipped until next season.

H. Reiter Webb, director of the cotton division of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, said further that more than 3.1 million bales of additional cotton from the 1974 crop had been sold by mid-February for export delivery in the 1974-75 season beginning next Aug. 1.

"Thus, as much as 4.4 million bales may be committed for export next season, three million of which are from a crop not even planted," Webb said in a weekly issue of Foreign Agri-

Cotton exports for the current 1973-74 season are officially estimated at about 5.5 million bales, but those include the 1.3 million Webb says may not be shipped until next crop year.

Last week USDA said surveys on March 1 indicated farmers intend to plant 14.8 million acres of cotton this spring, up 18 per cent from 1973.

Webb said cotton plantings worldwide this year may increase about 3.3 per cent, based upon soundings by USDA agricultural attaches stationed abroad.

Even so, Webb said, cotton production in the 1974-75 season in 20 major producing countries—which account for nearly 90 per cent of foreign output—is expected to be at record levels and range between 48 million and 49.5 million bales, compared with 47 million produced in 1973-74.

Cotton use in foreign countries is expected to rise to about 54 million bales, up from 51 million in the current year. That means a deficit between foreign production and use of between four million and six million bales.

Webb said U.S. cotton exports, not counting amounts which may not be shipped from the current season, are expected to be around 5.5 million bales, the same as the gross shipments for the current year.

In a companion report, the Foreign Agricultural Service said U.S. cotton sales to the Peoples Republic of China for the marketing year ending next Sept. 30 total more than one million bales, up from 587,000 in 1972-73. Contracts for selling cotton to China next season already total more than 376,000 bales.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imports of foreign dairy products jumped sharply to a record level last year as the result of President Nixon boosting quotas in an effort to cool off rising U.S. food prices, figures by the Agriculture Department showed today.

Imports totaled a milk equivalent of 3.9 billion pounds, compared with 1.7 billion in 1972, the Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report. The previous high was 2.9 billion pounds in 1967.

The report said 1973 U.S. milk production was down 4.2 billion pounds and that quota increases were ordered for a number of products "in response to lower-than-anticipated domestic production."

Mt. Whitney access limited by officials

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service has been forced to limit public access to Mt. Whitney. The solitude of the highest point in the continental United States is being threatened by tramping feet.

First climbed by three fishermen in 1873, the peak is now one of the most frequently climbed in the world. Hundreds are on the trail daily during summer months.

"It's a tough thing when you have to restrict the public from public land," says Ed Waldapfel, public information officer for Inyo National Forest. "But we haven't found another answer."

Under a plan being announced Monday, the Forest Service will allow only 75 persons per day onto the 10.7 mile Mt. Whitney trail, described by hikers as "just a long walk."

Because it is so readily accessible to the public, the trail to the 14,495-foot summit has been beset by problems brought on primarily by the sheer numbers of hikers.

Last year 15,700 people used the trail, including 1,164 during the Labor Day weekend. During summer months, it's not unusual to have more than 250 people on the trail in one day.

There will be an "outlook meeting" at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the P.C.A. Building in Warrensburg.

Glenn Grimes and Jim Ragsdale will treat agricultural supply, demand and price outlook for livestock and grain crops. They will also discuss the general economic climate with regard to grain and livestock outlook.

Any one from the Sedalia area wishing a ride is asked to meet at the IGA parking lot, next to the highway, at 7:00 p.m.

D.H.I.

During the month of February Lena and Chancy Houseworth supervised the testing of 912 cows from 15 herds.

The five highest herds for the month were Kenneth and Gale Lenz, Robert French, Robert Longan, Richard Lenz and Eldon Lenz and Sons. The top 10 cows in highest production for the month were two from the Longan dairy, four from the Richard Lenz dairy, two from the Eldon Lenz and Sons dairy, Roland L. Oelrichs and F. J. and J. Birdsong each had one.

Dairymen who had cows which reached beyond 550 pounds of butterfat in the last 305 days lactation were Larry McColester with two, Ned Monsees two, Clyde Rehmer two and Paul and J. Birdsong and Cloyd Merk each with one. The highest milk production in this group was 21,410 pounds of milk and 706 pounds of butterfat.

Richard Lenz had a 10 year old cow that reached her lifetime production of 109,220 pounds of milk with 4,203 pounds of butterfat.

Soybean

A soybean production outlook and marketing meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the PCA Building in Warrensburg.

Jim Ragsdale, grain marketing specialist, will discuss soybean outlook and marketing.

Soybean production and research will be explained by David Johnson, agronomist from UMC. His work has involved the problems of obtaining higher yields of soybeans related to nitrogen utilization, plant growth habits and the effect of temperature and light.

Activities of the Missouri and American Soybean Associations will be summarized by a Field Representative of the Missouri Soybean Association.

Transportation will be furnished for those who meet at the IGA parking lot, next to the highway, at 7 p.m.

Stocker beef

The estimated future production cost of stocker beef has been computed to be near $40 per 100 weight with a 90 per cent calf crop and 15 per cent heifer replacement approximately 475 pounds of beef would be sold per cow per year.

Production costs for a cow and calf, including hay, pasture, protein, vet bill, machinery and building, plus interest on these costs, would give a total cash cost of $132.

The fixed production cost would include seven hours of labor at $3 per hour, interest at 7 per cent on $420 plus a depreciation interest on buildings and machinery would give a total fixed and overhead cost of $60.

When we add together the cash and fixed production cost we have a total production cost of $192.

When it is divided by the 475 pounds of total beef sold per cow the total production cost is $40.65.

Ann Landers

Father-in-law provides genes

Dear Ann Landers: After several years of a childless marriage I finally presented my husband with a healthy, beautiful baby boy who looks just like his daddy. We had tried all the home remedies to get me pregnant but nothing worked. Finally we both went to a clinic and got ourselves checked. We discovered that my husband is sterile.

The father of our baby is actually my father-in-law. (He is only 23 years older than his son.) My husband and I talked it over and decided that, since Dad is a widower it would be all right for him to do this, provided he was willing. He agreed without a moment's hesitation. (If my father-in-law had said no we would have asked my husband's young, unmarried brother.)

Naturally, it's a deep, dark secret, and no one would guess the truth in a thousand years. I am writing to urge other childless couples to consider this solution. It makes a lot more sense to have a child that carries the male genes of the husband's family than to be artificially inseminated by a medical student about whom you know very little.

Will you please encourage this approach for childless couples? We are so happy and plan to have two or three more children. — 7th Heaven.

Dear 7th: Here's your letter, but the "approach" gets no endorsement for me. I see too many possibilities for real trouble later on — unless, of course, the entire clan is completely bananas and devoid of all the normal sensitivities.

Dear Ann Landers: I promised myself that if last night's date turned out like all the others, I'd write to Ann Landers. Well, here I am.

I'm an attorney, 26 years old, who has always tried to be considerate of the young ladies I take out. I ask them where they want to have dinner, which movie or play they prefer, etc. And I don't try to wrestle them into bed. I keep hoping the next girl will be different, but she never is.

After two dates, I am told, "I am interested in someone else," or, "You aren't good looking enough," or, "You don't wear the proper clothes," or, "Your eyeglasses make you look like a square." Tonight I was informed that I am "too serious, too sensitive and too insecure."

Other young men have written to say they can't find a girl who wants a respectable date, but you don't believe them. Well, I am telling you that's the way it is. Don't you understand that some people, both male and female, seem to have a life-long spell of bad luck? — Reluctant Concurrence In Chicago.

Dear Re.: I concede that luck is a vital component in the lives of all of us, but I don't believe in "life-long bad luck."

Something is wrong with your selections, Buddy. Where do you find these barracudas? You need to revise your criteria and fish in new waters.

Dear Ann Landers: Please say a word to girls who don't have enough sense to write a decent "thank-you" note for a beautiful wedding gift.

We received this one today: "Dear Friend" (not even our names!) "The silver dish" (it was a casserole) "is nice. We are very busy. Ed and Mary." Comment, please — Aghast.

Dear Ag.: Poor thing was never taught how to write a gracious note. I feel sorry for her because she will probably go through life with this handicap.

The girl did at least acknowledge the gift, however, which is an improvement over the clod who waits until she bumps into you at a social gathering and then apologizes for not having gotten around to it.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Bucks 'fight back' Chicago 107-82

By The Associated Press
"The Bucks are an aggressive team but today they went beyond aggressiveness," complained Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello after his Bucks buried Chicago 107-82 Sunday in a fight-filled National Basketball Association game.
"Today it became dirty."
The Bucks and the Bulls treated a national television audience to a foul-laden, physical contest that was never really close. The Bucks roared off to 39-22 lead midway through the second quarter and coasted home.
In other NBA action, Los Angeles trimmed New York 126-114; Boston defeated Capital 129-103; Detroit stopped Buffalo 116-109; Cleveland dumped Philadelphia 115-99; Kansas City-Omaha downed Houston 125-114; and Phoenix whipped Seattle 133-108.

Kareem Abdul Jabbar turned in a big game for Milwaukee with 38 points, 22 rebounds and a defensive performance that thoroughly intimidated the Bulls, who hit just 27 per cent of their shots from the floor.
Chicago center Dennis Awrey tried to slow Jabbar down with a punch in the eye in the third period but was thrown out of the game for his efforts.
Bob Dandridge added 20 points for the Bucks while Howard Porter netted 22 for the Bulls.
Lakers 126, Knicks 114
Jim Price led the balanced Los Angeles attack with 25 points as the Lakers pulled to within a half-game of front-running Golden State in the Pacific Division.
Celtics 129, Bullets 103
John Havlicek pumped in 29 points, 15 of them in the third period, as Boston clinched the Atlantic Division title.

Pistons 116, Braves 109
Bob Lanier and Dave Bing netted 23 points each as Detroit pulled to within a half-game of second-place Chicago in the Midwest Division.
Cavaliers 115, 76ers 99
Austin Carr scored 31 points, 23 of them in the second half, for Cleveland. Lenny Wilkens' layup late in the third period put the Cavs on top for good.
Kings 125, Rockets 114
Don Kojis hit a season-high 30 points, 22 in the first half, as Kansas City-Omaha snapped Houston's winning streak at four games.
Suns 133, Sonics 108
Keith Erickson scored 30 points as Phoenix broke an 18-game road losing streak.

Meely cuts past Behagen

Houston's Cliff Meely (25) zips in front of Ron Behagen of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings during Sunday afternoon's NBA game in Omaha.

Meely got inside, but couldn't score on the play. It was the Kings' final game of the season in Omaha; they pleased the home crowd with a 125-114 win. (UPI)

Smith homer lifts Cards over Bosox

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
The continuing saga of Reggie Smith and Carlton Fisk — former teammates now gone separate ways to their mutual satisfaction — seems to have a way of sneaking from the locker room to the diamond.
The stage was set for the saga's latest act by a game between the Boston Red Sox, Smith's former team, and his new team, the St. Louis Cardinals.
Smith took a few pot shots at Fisk before the game, calling the Boston catcher a "crybaby" and "backstabber." Then took another shot at pitcher Diego Segui in the ninth inning, sending Segui's first pitch out of the park and helping the Cards to a 4-3 exhibition victory over the Red Sox.
Meanwhile, Fisk took a shot of his own, in the fifth inning. It was a foul tip off the bat of Joe Torre that caught the All-Star catcher in the groin and probably will sideline him for two or three days.
Smith's homer tied the game at 3-3, and then Ken Reitz singled in the winning score with two out.

In other exhibition games, the other half of the Boston club beat Philadelphia 10-7. Los Angeles squashed the New York Mets 9-2. Minnesota beat Houston 9-5. Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 7-0. Baltimore defeated Pittsburgh 7-3. The Chicago White Sox got by Kansas City 8-5. The Chicago Cubs beat Oakland 6-2. San Francisco defeated California 8-2. Montreal blasted Texas 5-1. Cleveland downed Milwaukee 3-1, and the Yankees pummeled Detroit 5-1.
"I'm glad to get away from a crybaby like Fisk," Smith said. He said since the 1973 campaign, "I've only seen his picture in the paper and read all that stuff he's been saying behind my back. He didn't have the nerve to say it to my face."
Fisk retaliated by calling Smith "a troublemaker," but would not discuss the situation further, keeping his distance from Smith during the game. Neither exchanged words.
Steve Carlton was tagged for six runs in three innings, and outfielder Bernie Carbo got four singles and drove in three runs to lead the other half of the Boston contingent. Rick Wise got the victory by holding Philadelphia scoreless for five innings.
Ron Cey, who has six RBIs in his past two games, had a homer and a single in Los Angeles' rendering of the New York Mets. Dave Lopes stole three bases for the Dodgers.
Meanwhile, the Dodgers announced that third baseman Ken McMullen had left the club to join his wife, Bobbie, who is seriously ill and being hospitalized in California. Mrs. McMullen underwent surgery last May for cancer.
Bob Darwin homered for two runs, and Steve Braun's circuit blow drove in another three, pacing Minnesota to its first victory of the exhibition season. Houston took a 3-1 lead after Harmon Killebrew had put the Twins on the board with a single in the first inning.
Cincinnati exploded for 17 hits and pitchers Pat Osburn, Steve Kealey and Pat Zachery held the Braves scoreless in the Reds' victory. Ken Griffey led the Reds at the plate with three hits, while Atlanta slugger Hank Aaron went hitless in four at-bats.

Pittsburgh committed four costly errors in the game, and the Orioles jumped to a 5-2 lead in the fourth inning on four runs off Pirate starter Bruce Kison. Inos Cabell had three RBIs for Baltimore.
The White Sox scored seven runs off Marty Pattin in the first three innings to move to an easy victory over Kansas City. Jorge Orta had two singles and a homer with four RBIs for Chicago.
The Cubs got homers from Vic Harris and Jerry Morales, and Bill Madlock added three hits to pace Chicago past the world champion A's. Madlock, in 29 at-bats, has 18 hits for a .620 average so far in pre-season play.
Three Giant pitchers — John D'Acquisto, Frank Riccielli, and Mike Caldwell — held California to two hits, and San Francisco tagged Nolan Ryan for five runs in four innings, including Chris Speier's solo homer.
Bob Bailey doubled twice, scored two runs and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly for Montreal. The Expos touched Texas relief pitcher Pete Broberg for three runs in the fifth inning.
Charlie Spikes doubled in Cleveland's winning run, and shortstop Frank Duffy, who had homered to tie the game in the third inning, scored an insurance run in the Indians' victory over Milwaukee.
Bobby Murcer personally accounted for three Yankee runs that carried the New York club past Detroit, now managed by former Yankee mentor Ralph Houk. Murcer doubled home two runs and scored the other himself in the first meeting of the two teams since Houk gave up the Yankee reins.

Walker and Co. lay claim to NAIA title

KANSAS CITY (AP) — West Georgia, a school of 5,000 students, was the best in National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball today and five guys who "just kept getting better" were the reason.
The five are Clarence "Foots" Walker, Tom Turner, Dave Edmonds, Randy Roundtree and Jerry Faulkner. This collection of five iron men played until only two minutes, five seconds remained in West Georgia's 97-79 breeze past Alcorn State University Saturday night in the NAIA championship showdown.
"Why should I break up that combination?" said West Georgia Coach Roger Kaiser, a former college great at Georgia Tech. "We have five mighty fine basketball players who just kept getting better. We haven't substituted much all year."
Walker, a 6-foot-1 star who was named the tournament's most valuable player, was the ringleader in the Georgians' triumph. In addition to scoring 24 points and grabbing nine rebounds, Walker intimidated Alcorn all night long with his deadly passes, his thefts of the ball and his harassment in causing Alcorn turnovers.

Turner time after time took Walker's deadly passes and converted them into baskets. He led all scorers with 28 points and at one stage of the second half hit on seven consecutive field goals that gave 14th-seeded West Georgia an 84-65 advantage over the fourth-seed team from Mississippi.
Turner and Walker earned berths on the all-tournament team along with Gerald Cunningham of Kentucky State, a 95-79 victor over St. Mary's of Texas in the battle for third place; Nate Archibald of Alcorn and Gary Tomaszewski of St. Mary's.
Second team places went to Dennis Carter of St. Mary's, John Drew of Gardner-Webb of North Carolina, William Bell of Alcorn, Dennis Laker of Hanover of Indiana and Edmonds. George Harris of St. Mary's received the Charles Stevenson Hustle Award.

West Georgia, coming into the tournament with no pep squad or band, raced to a 53-43 halftime lead over Alcorn and never let the opposition get closer than four points thereafter. The Georgians scored the final 10 points in the first half's last two minutes for their intermission cushion.
West Georgia, 29-4 this season, really broke the game open with Turner's barrage of consecutive baskets. When Turner popped in his seventh in a row, Kaiser told his assistant, Jerry Reynolds, "I think we're going to win this."
Alcorn, 29-6, had five players in double figures, led by Dellie Robinson's 14 points.
When Alcorn got within four points for the last time, Kaiser called a timeout and huddled with his players. "I told them," he said, "we'd worked too hard this year to..."
Kaiser didn't finish the sentence. The players already had the message.

Green captures second PGA tourney of season

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hubert Green's going to have to change his act.
For a couple of seasons, the lanky, laconic young man from Birmingham, Ala., has characterized himself as "just another pretty face on the tour."
But his credentials are getting too impressive for that now. He's rapidly becoming one of the game's premier performers.

Green scored his second victory of the year and fourth in the last 12 months with a gritty comeback performance Sunday in the Greater Jacksonville

Open Golf tournament.
He won it with a 71 that included a decisive four birdies in a row and a 276 total, 12 under par on the 7,088-yard Deerwood Country Club course and a comfortable three strokes in front of John Mahaffey.
Mahaffey matched par 72 in the mild, sunny, slightly windy weather, and finished at 279. Jerry Heard, first and second in his two previous performances, came on to take third with a 68-280.
Jim Weichers suffered another bitter, frustrating disappointment. The big guy, who has been in position to win a half dozen times in the last year, entered the final round in a tie with Green for the top, actually took the lead at one stage then again fell victim to a poor finish.
He closed with a 40 on the back nine, a 76 and a tie for fourth with DeWitt Weaver and Leonard Thompson at 281. Thompson had a final 70 and Weaver 71.

Seminole ruling upheld; NEO to JuCo tourney

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The National Junior College Athletic Association affirmed Sunday its decision concerning Seminole, Okla., Junior College and the eligibility of Leonard Whitted following a hearing.
After hearing Whitted and arguments on his behalf, the executive committee concluded Whitted had falsified his athletic record in violation of Section 6 of the conference's eligibility rules. This affirmed the decision made Friday resulting in Seminole forfeiting all games in which Whitted appeared, including the Region II championship.

Whitted failed to reveal he had played varsity basketball at Pershing College, Beatrice, Neb., during the fall of 1970, when he enrolled at Seminole.
Because of the forfeitures, Northeastern Oklahoma A. and M. College, Miami, Okla., will replace Seminole Junior College in the National Junior College Basketball tournament which starts here Tuesday.
A hearing held by the executive committee in the case of Whitted and the Seminole school was carried on by a conference call. Theo J. Heap, spokesman for the executive committee, announced.

Martin's hat trick guides Sabres 5-2

By The Associated Press
Rick Martin is shooting more and the Buffalo Sabres' opponents are enjoying it less.
"I talked to Martin after Saturday night's tie in St. Louis," said Buffalo Coach Joe Crozier. "and I told him he wasn't shooting the puck enough. He was making an extra deke when he should have been shooting."
The result was that Martin took six shots on the Minnesota goal Sunday and three of them got past goalie Gump Worsley, pacing the Sabres to a 5-2 triumph and keeping their slim playoff hopes alive.

Canadiens 4, Islanders 2
Larry Robinson and Henri Richard, who staked Montreal to a 2-0 lead in the first period, scored again in the final period after New York tied the score on second-period goals by Craig Cameron and Ralph Stewart.

The triumph gave second-place Montreal a three-point lead over the Rangers in the East Division. It was the lowly Islanders' 10th consecutive setback.

Flyers 2, Maple Leafs 2
Borje Salming's goal in the final minute of the second period enabled Toronto to tie the Flyers. Salming beat goalie Bernie Parent with a 40-foot slapshot with 51 seconds remaining. The tie snapped an eight-game Philadelphia winning streak.

Elsewhere in the National Hockey League, the Atlanta Flames and Chicago Black Hawks tied 3-3, the Boston Bruins beat the New York Rangers 5-2, the Montreal Canadiens downed the New York Islanders 4-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers and Toronto Maple Leafs tied 2-2.
In the World Hockey Association, it was Houston 4, Cleveland 3; Winnipeg 10, New England 1; Minnesota 5, Quebec 3; Chicago 4, Toronto 2 and Edmonton 3, Vancouver 2.

Flames 3, Black Hawks 3
Jacques Richard's disputed goal with 27 seconds left gave the Flames the tie. It was Richard's second goal of the game and slid into the net while Atlanta's Bob Leiter was tangled in the crease with Chicago goalie Tony Esposito.
Chicago's Bill White, Stan Mikita and Dick Redmond were handed game misconduct penalties by referee Ron Wicks for protesting the goal.

Bruins 5, Rangers 2
Phil Esposito got his 64th and 65th goals and Ken Dryden scored his 46th for Boston. Esposito has 10 goals in his last seven games.

Larry Phillips pockets $2,000

CLINTON, Miss. (AP) — Racer Larry Phillips of Springfield, Mo., driving a Camaro, took the $2,000 top prize money in a 200-lap auto race, an event which included a fiery crash and car trouble for racing star Pete Hamilton.

Doug Robinson of Marshall, Tex., escaped injury Sunday in the crash. His car spun, was hit and burst into flames. Hamilton's Dodge Challenger developed rear end trouble and left the race in the 120th lap.

Utes dump Foster's ex-team

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Foster, who once built up the Rutgers basketball program over a matter of years, tried to tear it down in one day in the National Invitation Tournament.

The onetime successful Rutgers coach returned East with a vengeance Sunday, steering his Utah team to a relatively easy, 102-89 triumph over the Scarlet Knights Sunday.

"It was a special feeling to come back and play Rutgers," said Foster after the victory sent his team into a quarter-final meeting Thursday against Memphis State, one of three other first-round winners Sunday.

The game was a natural drawing card, pulling a roaring crowd into the Garden that later swelled to 18,157 for the second game of the day. Connecticut's 82-70 victory over hometown favorite St. John's.

The first-round action concluded Sunday night when Boston College beat Cincinnati 63-62 and Memphis State stopped Seton Hall 73-72.

The Utes displayed their high-powered scoring proficiency behind Ticky Burden's 34 points against Rutgers. Burden scored 20 of his game-high total in the first half when the Utes hit 68 per cent of their field goal attempts and soared to a 61-36 lead.

The Utes built the lead to 28 points early in the second half but Rutgers made things exciting by cutting it to nine in the late going. The big, early deficit, however, was too much for the Scarlet Knights to overcome.

Jim Foster scored 27 points to lead Connecticut over St. John's. Bill Collins contributed two key baskets and Jere Nolan scored the winning point with a foul shot at the 26-second mark, leading Boston over Cincinnati. Dexter Reed, earlier credited with a key field goal on a goal-tending call, scored the winning point for Memphis State with a foul shot with 30 seconds remaining.

Sunday's results set up a Thursday night quarter-final doubleheader matching Boston and Connecticut and Utah against Memphis State. In a quarter-final round Tuesday night, Jacksonville will play Maryland-Eastern Shore and Hawaii will meet Purdue. Those teams won opening-round games Saturday.

American League East preview

Lack of pitching, hitting stars, speed biggest woes facing Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The optimistic banter is much like it is most years in spring training for the Detroit Tigers.

"If we get off to a good start, I think we'll make some people eat crow," says pitcher Joe Coleman.

"I think we're going to surprise a lot of people," adds outfielder Jim Northrup. "The critics have written us off, but we've got a lot of guys who want to win."

"Baltimore is the team to beat and we have as good a chance as anyone else of beating them," chimes in new Manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers still have the ability to battle with the contenders — but when it's all over, it looks like they'll be third in the American League East, behind Baltimore and Boston.

Having guys who want to win might help, but it won't help overcome Detroit's questionable pitching staff, lack of hitting superstars and absence of speed.

Al Kaline will be the designated hitter and can reach the 3,000-hit circle with 139 more hits. He has a .299 career batting average but beyond him, nobody can routinely be expected to hit .300.

There are good hitters like Willie Horton, Northrup and Bill Freehan — but they are inconsistent. The team was second in the league with 157 home runs last season — but it seems to have passed the point where the long ball can do it all for them. In 1973, for instance, Norm Cash led the team in homers with 19 — but had only 40 runs batted in.

Aurelio Rodriguez leads an outstanding defensive lineup and may be the best fielding third baseman in the league, but his .222 average and team-leading RBI count of 58 won't scare many teams. Center fielder Mickey Stanley and shortstop Ed Brinkman are the other superior defensive players.

Coleman and Mickey Lolich have averaged 21 victories apiece the past three years, but who can say whether either can keep it up?

It's strictly a wait-and-see situation as to who the other starting pitchers will be. They will come from among veterans Woodie Fryman, Jim Perry, newcomer Luke Walker and youngsters Fred Holdsworth, Lerrin LaGrow and Bill Slayback. John Hiller is among the best relief pitchers in baseball and is looking to newcomer Jim Ray and perhaps Chuck Seelbach for help.

The biggest spring training battle is for second base between rookie John Knox and journeyman Gary Sutherland, his roommate who was with Houston last year. Either is capable of handling the job vacated when Dick McAuliffe was traded to Boston.

A new atmosphere of looseness pervades the camp in contrast to the tenseness generated under the regime of former Manager Billy Martin. But can such a change produce better results?

There'll be surprises. There always are. But there are bound to be individual disappointments and only the Tiger superfan can expect a pennant this season.

Indiana edges Toledo

USC needs overtime to eliminate Bradley

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tall Southern Cal takes on Indiana's Hoosiers for a basketball title nobody seems to want tonight.

And, if the coach of 15th-ranked USC is any kind of prognosticator, the scrap may be anything but artistic in finals of the first Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney.

USC, a Goliath warding off a smaller David, needed an overtime to edge Bradley 76-73 in semifinals of the meet Sunday.

Also hard-pressed to win and unspectacular to the consternation of its coach was 10th-ranked Indiana, which squeezed past Toledo 73-72 in overtime.

"If we play the way we did the last 15 minutes and they play the way we did, it could be a real mess," predicted USC's coach, Bob Boyd.

USC, 24-4, was instigator of most of the wild antics Sunday while playing in streaks to subdue Bradley.

Hard-working guard Dan Anderson scored 25 points and drove the Trojans to a 57-40 lead at 9:22 of the second half only to have the Pac-8 team's offense disintegrate.

Bradley sent the test into overtime locked at 63-63, then Anderson and rangy sophomore Bob Trowbridge combined for nine points to ease USC away.

Indiana, 22-5, burst on top cold-shooting Toledo by 11-2 after seven minutes but never again had it so simple.

Toledo, 19-9, manufactured a rebound shot.

Tom Abernathy's jumper put

Indiana on top in overtime, then 6-foot-10 Kent Benson snapped a 71-71 deadlock with a rebound shot.

Kansas Coach Ted Owens has said that the "addition of Norm Cook to our squad this season is one of the reasons we were able to turn our record around from last year."

A year ago, the Jayhawks won only eight of 26 games. This year, they posted a 21-5 record during the regular season, won the Big Eight championship and the Midwest Regional NCAA championship. Kansas is headed now for Greensboro, N.C., and the semifinals of the NCAA championships. During the regular season, Cook was the team's top scorer in three games and tied for the honor in another game.

Nixon will be out by November says Mills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, predicts President Nixon will be out of office by November.

Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the committee looking into the President's taxes, was asked in a televised interview Sunday whether he expects Nixon will be in office by the November election.

"I do not," Mills responded. "By resignation, by impeachment?"

Mills replied: "One or the other, I do not know which at this time."

Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Mills said he believes Nixon will come under increasing pressure from within the Republican party because of his tax problems and fears of lost votes in November.

The Arkansas Democrat told one of the newsmen interviewing him:

"I would think that probably you and I both may well be surprised when the vote occurs on the articles of impeachment over the number on the Republican side who may vote for those articles of impeachment."

Mills added: "If he stays in office as President, members of his own party know that they'll lose seats in the House."

Commenting on Nixon's income tax problems, primarily involving a deduction for donation of his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, Mills said:

"There is a possibility if (the investigation) proves that the deduction of the papers given to the archives was improper that there would be fraud on the part of someone."

He said about the capital gains section of the President's taxes, "I've seen no evidence whatsoever of fraud."

Mills added: "Now I'm not saying the President, under any circumstance, but there could be some fraud in connection with the preparation of his return, if he included a deduction for the gift of those papers to the archives in the instance where the papers were given after the cutoff date of July 25, 1969."

A White House spokesman later called the Mills' statement "a dirty, low political ploy."

Coffee price is going up

NEW YORK (AP) — American coffee roasters say the price of coffee is going up and there's nothing they can do about it except wait.

The coffee producing nations are restricting exports while demanding higher prices. Droughts, frosts and commodity speculation have also contributed to the rise.

Within the past four months, wholesale coffee prices have risen from 10 to 20 per cent, with many companies passing along successive penny-an-ounce increases.

"We are entirely in the hands of the producing nations, dependent on them for supply," said John Buckley, vice president of purchasing for Nestle Co. Inc., the largest maker of freeze-dried coffee. "The producers are making available slightly less coffee than the world could readily absorb in order to keep the upward momentum on prices."

Still, some observers see a trend developing that could stabilize prices, noting that market prices for future contracts have eased.

Brazil, which pulled out of an international pricing agreement last September, now says it's willing to consider a new agreement to keep its gains secure.

Because of coffee rust disease, the early frost and a lack of interest by growers, Brazil, the world's largest producer, harvested 10 million fewer bags of coffee in the 1973-74 season.

Juvenile court judge requests board resign

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Charles Mann, a member of the Missouri Board of Training Schools, offered to resign his post over the weekend if Gary M. Gaertner would step down from the St. Louis Juvenile Court bench.

Mann said Saturday that Gaertner's charges were inaccurate concerning the amount of time juvenile offenders spend in the state training schools managed by the board.

Judge Gaertner on Friday requested the resignations of all five members of the state board, saying they had allowed the premature release of juveniles from the state training school at Boonville.

Juveniles sent to Boonville are all treated alike and are released after an average of six months, Judge Gaertner said.

Mann admitted that the average stay in an institution is six months, after which the juvenile remains under supervision for 12 months.

All but about 100 were released after they agreed to a haircut. The holdouts were referred to the Summary Court.

Hart will replace Sirica as chief judge of District Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before he became a federal judge in 1958, George L. Hart Jr. spent more than 20 years as a Republican party worker.

In those days, long before Watergate, Hart often raised as much as $500,000 a year as GOP chairman for the District of Columbia. "Every contributor of $100 or more was listed by name and address... every expenditure of as little as 10 cents was listed individually," Hart recalled in an interview.

"That was the way I thought campaign funds were handled... I must have been a babe in the woods," he added.

Recently, Hart has begun learning about Watergate-style Republican politics in his position as a U.S. District judge.

And, starting Tuesday, Hart takes over as chief judge of the District Court, succeeding the man given much of the credit for exposing Watergate, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The change was marked Monday by a luncheon ceremony at a meeting of the judicial conference.

Sirica turns 70 Tuesday and must step down as chief judge, though he plans to remain on the bench and already has assigned himself the Watergate cover-up trial.

As the new chief judge, Hart will receive any future Watergate indictments and assign the cases.

Because of the administrative duties of his new post, Hart said it isn't likely "I would assign one of the long and protracted Watergate cases to myself while I am chief judge."

In September 1972, Sirica assigned himself the case of seven men indicted on charges of burglary, conspiracy and wiretapping in connection with the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate office building.

At the trial in January 1973, five of the defendants pleaded guilty. The other two, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., were convicted by a jury.

Throughout, Sirica made it clear he didn't believe all the facts were being brought out. Finally, in March, McCord wrote the judge a letter in which he said the defendants had been pressured into pleading guilty and also that higher-ups were involved in the break-in.

Nearly a year later, a grand jury indicted seven former administration and campaign aides on charges of trying to block the Watergate investigation. A good deal of the credit was given to Sirica's dogged determination to get at the truth.

How does Hart feel, taking over as chief judge from the man whom Watergate made into a folk hero?

"It's just another job," he said, his voice still carrying a trace of the Tidewater Virginia drawl of his native Roanoke. "I frankly don't consider from a judge's point of view that a Watergate is different than any other case... Some cases are more difficult than others, some are longer than others."

From the bench, Hart strives to bring cases to trial swiftly. He can become testy with lawyers who ask for what he considers too much time for filing pre-trial motions.

Federal rules of procedure set six months as the recommended maximum time from indictment to trial.

But as for Watergate, said Hart, "All of these cases cannot be tried in six months. They can't possibly be."

Hart is the son of a court reporter. His father wanted him to be a lawyer but the son dreamed of becoming an engineer and building bridges. But finally he shifted to law. After being graduated from Virginia Military Institute, Hart went on to Harvard Law School where he got his degree in 1930.

Both Hart and Sirica had successful law practices in Washington and were active Republicans before being appointed to the court by President Eisenhower.

Sirica, who left a mark more likely to be noted in history books than in the archives of the District Court, predicted that Hart will "be a great chief judge. He's a fine trial judge. He's an excellent administrator."

As for himself, Sirica plans to go on vacation, the first one he's had since the first Watergate trial.

Local drug panel views

Before setting up any type of organization in Sedalia to deal with drug abuse, the city needs more reliable information on the type and extent of the drug problem.

This is the view of the 11-member Sedalia team that recently attended the Governor's Conference on Drug Abuse Alternatives in Jefferson City.

Mayor Jerry Jones, who was designated "facilitator" of the local team, issued a consensus report on the Sedalia group's views. It lists the following as possible means of approaching the local drug problem, should a community group be formed:

- ✓ Creative recreation and better educational approaches to prevent growth of the local drug problem.
- ✓ Establishment of "hotlines" or crisis centers to deal with drug offenders.
- ✓ Home counseling services provided through the criminal justice system to help juveniles in trouble with the law over drugs.

MARINER VENUS-MERCURY FLIGHT PATH

Taking aim on Mercury

In a difficult maneuver Saturday America's Mariner 10 was slowed to a speed of 87,930 miles per hour as it took aim on its main target, Mercury. The spacecraft is scheduled to rendezvous to within 540 miles of the planet March 29. Mercury is the closest planet to the sun. Mariner, the first two-planet spacecraft, swung by Venus Feb. 5 and beamed back a bonanza of scientific information to earth. The probe was launched Nov. 3 last year.

Programs for truck drivers are outlined

ST. LOUIS (AP) — As long as independent truck drivers are making progress toward their goals, there will be no more shutdowns by owner-operators, according to Jerry Todd, spokesman for the 12,000-member Independent Truckers Coalition.

Todd said Saturday that his group was still not happy with the six per cent fuel surcharge ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission as part of the agreement which ended last month's independent trucker boycott. The coalition, which boasts members in 16 midwestern states, is an outgrowth of that and an earlier boycott.

The coalition will continue to concentrate on a diesel fuel price rollback, an even bigger fuel surcharge and enlargement of permissible truck sizes and weights, Todd said.

Weather-watch meeting scheduled

The Sedalia-Pettis County Civil Defense Agency will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Pettis County Courthouse to organize a weather-watch system, co-ordinator Jerry Iuchs announced Monday.

Highlighting the meeting, Iuchs said, will be the presentation of a film "Twister" which depicts civil defense activities undertaken in conjunction with a tornado in Lubbock, Tex.

How about an extra checking account?

- * A separate checking account for household expenses makes it easier to keep track of money spent for running the home.
- * If you have a student in the family, away from home for the first time, a checking account is the perfect way to teach him to manage his own money.
- * Your club would benefit from a checking account to pay expenses, and cancelled checks make an accurate record file of money spent.
- * If you drive a company-owned or leased car, a separate checking account for auto expenses would be helpful.
- * And if you're over fifty years of age, you're eligible for free checking. Ask anyone at the Third for details.

Polly's pointers

Lazy parkers
irk a shopper

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with healthy people who are too lazy to take a few steps to the door of a shop but have to park right in front even if it is a no-parking zone. They do not care about blocking traffic or keeping trucks from unloading. If they are too lazy to walk from the parking lot they should stay at home. I wish stores had meter maids to give them tickets. Maybe then they would park in the lot and stop blocking traffic.

Other Pet Peeves are salespeople who will not take "No" for an answer and telephone salespeople are the worst. Then, too, there are those people who expect their mail and newspapers to be delivered to the door in all kinds of weather but will not even bother to clean a path in the snow for deliverymen to walk on. I thought there was a law that said people had to clean off their walks. — MARTHA.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know if there is anything that will take OLD tea stains out of a linen tablecloth. They remained after it was washed. — A.B.C.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Eva who spotted her doubleknit dress with fabric softener. This can be removed. Wet the material and rub the spots well with that almost 100 per cent white soap. This takes time and work but worked for me on an entire pants suit. — LYNETTE.

DEAR POLLY — Eva who poured fabric softener on a knit dress and had spots all over it should first rub all the spots with a detergent and then wash it in the machine with an all-purpose bleach that is used for colored clothes. It may have to be repeated a few times but they should come out. — BELLE.

DEAR POLLY — The maker of a well-known washer also says that if undiluted fabric softener is dropped on fabric it may leave colored spots but the fabric should not be damaged and the spots can be removed by rubbing with a liquid detergent. Rewash, using chlorine bleach IF safe for the fabric and color. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — To conserve heat during this energy crisis use a sheet of nylon tricot over any blanket. This holds the heat in and is lightweight. With this an electric blanket can be set at the lowest point. Buy a two-yard length (perhaps on sale). Since it is 106 inches wide the width can be used for the length and then the two yards for across the width of a double bed. It does not ravel or fray so would not have to be hemmed but, of course, that would look nicer. (Polly's note: While you are at it such a sheet might be edged with lace or bound to be a regular blanket cover.) — ESTHER J.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper. (NEA)

Apple Brissac spices a menu

A dessert that pleases

Apple Brissac with whipped cream and sponge cake is a winner.

By AILEEN CLAIRE
This is an ideal time of year to spice up a meal with an apple dessert. An Apple Brissac combines the very cookable Washington Golden Delicious apple in a bed of whipped cream, topped with sponge cake. Despite the constant talk about dieting Americans still love their desserts and this is one to please the most discriminating.

APPLE BRISSAC

Sponge Cake:
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ tsp. baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
6 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
½ cup boiling water
Apples:
3 Washington State apples*
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
Dash salt
1 tsp. vanilla
3 to 4 drops red food coloring

Garnish:
½ cup whipping cream
1 tbsp. sugar
½ cup sliced almonds

CAKE: Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks. Gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until very thick, about 5 minutes. Blend in vanilla. Fold in half the flour mixture, then half the water. Quickly blend in remaining flour and water. Turn into ungreased 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Invert over wire rack and cool. Remove from pan.

APPLES: Pare, core and halve apples lengthwise. Combine sugar, water, lemon juice, salt, vanilla and food coloring; heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add apples, and poach gently until tender, turning and basting often. Remove apples. Boil syrup down to ¼ cup. Remove from heat, and spoon slowly over cooled cake. Arrange apples around edge of cake. Whip cream with remaining tablespoon sugar. Spread around top and sides of cake. Pat almonds into cream. Makes 1 (9-inch) cake.

* Preferred variety: Washington Golden Delicious or Winesap. (NEA)
